

Seminar Series

Memory and the Law

Prominent St. Louis attorneys will lead discussions of several timely and important topics related to memory and how it affects the practice of law. Each session of the three-part series will feature a speaker who is considered an expert in his/her field, and will highlight the most current research and information available on the respective topic. All seminars are held at the Thomas F. Eagleton U.S. Courthouse in downtown St. Louis. Light refreshments will be served.

Please use class number 545 if registering for the whole series. Or use the numbers listed below for individual programs, which are $5 each. Register for all 3 sessions for only $12.00, a savings of $3.00!

False Identifications in Criminal Cases

Join Caterina DiTraglia, an attorney with the Federal Public Defender's Office, to discuss how memory and other factors might affect eyewitness evidence in criminal cases. Ms. DiTraglia has played a key role in developing publications and training materials on handling eye witness evidence and minimizing false claims, for use by law enforcement personnel nationwide.

Eagleton Courthouse 542

Friday, Feb 24, 10:00-12:00

Fee: $5

False and Coerced Confessions in Criminal Cases

Join Sharon Turlington, an attorney with the Missouri State Public Defender's Capital Division, to discuss how memory and other factors might affect someone's willingness to confess to a crime. As a defense attorney, Ms. Turlington has successfully handled a capital murder case involving a false confession and will provide both legal and scientific insights on this topic.

Eagleton Courthouse 543

Friday, Mar 24, 10:00-12:00

Fee: $5

The Thomas F. Eagleton U.S. Courthouse
111 South 10th St, St. Louis, MO 63102

Digital Memory and its Effect on Evidence and Discovery in Civil Cases

Join John Cowling, Partner at the law firm Armstrong Teasdale, to discuss how technology has greatly increased the amount of evidence that can be collected, or "discovered," in civil cases, and the resulting effects on civil litigation. As an attorney, Mr. Cowling advises clients and handles cases on a variety of information technology issues and is considered an expert in the area of e-discovery.

Eagleton Courthouse 544

Friday, Apr 28, 10:00-12:00

Fee: $5