Appeal from the United States
District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri.

[UNPUBLISHED]

Submitted: April 10, 2000

Filed: April 21, 2000

Before BOWMAN and HANSEN, Circuit Judges, and CARMAN,¹ Judge.

PER CURIAM.

Brian Finney appeals from the order of the District Court² denying Finney's petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Challenging his state-court conviction and sentence on charges of first degree burglary, first degree robbery, armed criminal action, and felonious restraint, Finney's habeas petition raised seven grounds for habeas relief. In a thorough and well-reasoned opinion, the District Court rejected all of Finney's claims and dismissed his petition.

The District Court then granted a certificate of appealability on all seven of Finney's claims, and Finney reasserts them on appeal.

Having considered the case, we conclude that the District Court correctly disposed of all of Finney's claims. Because an extended opinion by this Court would add nothing of substance to the District Court's comprehensive opinion, we affirm on the basis of that opinion.

AFFIRMED. See 8th Cir. R. 47B.
