

United States Court of Appeals
For the Eighth Circuit

No. 12-1618

United States of America

Plaintiff - Appellee

v.

James Robinson, also known as Richie

Defendant - Appellant

Appeal from United States District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas - Little Rock

Submitted: September 18, 2012

Filed: September 27, 2012

[Unpublished]

Before MELLOY, BEAM, and BENTON, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

James Robinson appeals his 33-month, within-Guidelines sentence for misprison of a felony in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 4, relating to his involvement in a methamphetamine conspiracy. Robinson argues the sentence is substantively unreasonable because the district court¹ gave too much consideration to his extensive criminal history and not enough consideration to other mitigating factors. We have carefully reviewed the sentencing transcript and find these arguments to be without merit. The district court did not abuse its considerable discretion in sentencing Robinson to 33 months in prison. See United States v. Woodard, 675 F.3d 1147, 1151 (8th Cir. 2012) (standard of review). Accordingly, we affirm.

¹The Honorable Brian S. Miller, United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Arkansas.
