his claims under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). After careful de novo review, we find no basis to reverse the district court's decision. See EEOC v. Prod. Fabricators, Inc., Nos. 13-2102-03, 2014 WL 3971477, at *3 (8th Cir. Aug. 15, 2014) (grant of summary judgment reviewed de novo; to establish discrimination under ADA, employee must show that he suffered adverse employment action because of his disability); Ryan v. Capital Contractors, Inc., 679 F.3d 772, 779 (8th Cir. 2012) (hostile work environment under ADA must be subjectively and objectively offensive and extreme in nature). Accordingly, we affirm. See 8th Cir. R. 47B.
