PER CURIAM.

Nellie Branscum appeals the district court's<sup>1</sup> decision affirming the Commissioner's denial of disability insurance benefits. The administrative law judge ended the analysis of Branscum's claim at the second step of the five-step analysis, concluding that Branscum did not have a severe impairment that significantly limited her physical or mental ability to do basic work activities before her insured status ended on June 30, 1983. See 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(c) (1995). Upon careful review of the
