

---

No. 95-3977NE

---

Terry L. Christianson,

Appellant,

v.

Robert P. Houston; Attorney
General, State of Nebraska,

Appellees.

*
*
*
* Appeal from the United States
* District Court for the District
* of Nebraska.
*
* [UNPUBLISHED]
*
*

---

Submitted: May 13, 1996

Filed: May 22, 1996

---

Before McMILLIAN, FAGG, and LOKEN, Circuit Judges.

---

PER CURIAM.

Terry L. Christianson appeals the district court's denial of his 28 U.S.C. § 2254 petition. Initially, we reject Christianson's contention that Nebraska's robbery statute is constitutionally ambiguous. Having rejected Christianson's constitutional claim, we conclude Christianson's trial and appellate counsel were not ineffective for failing to challenge the statute's constitutionality. Accordingly, we affirm. See 8th Cir. R. 47B.

A true copy.

Attest:

CLERK, U.S. COURT OF APPEALS, EIGHTH CIRCUIT.